

Note :

Respected Judges,

We are Team Predicamentendencified Innovations! Our project involves a complex hardware setup that is both intricate and expensive. To address this challenge, we have developed a preliminary version of a website to simulate and present our concept. This front-end implementation is in its nascent stages, with significant room for development and enhancement.

Our website serves as a medium to convey our core ideology, methodology, and vision, which we have elaborated on in detail in our report. While we utilized AI tools to assist in creating the website, we emphasize that this approach aligns with our project's principles and was chosen to effectively bring our ideas to life within our constraints.

We assure you that every aspect of the project's content, from the conceptual framework to the execution strategy, is original and entirely our own. The use of AI was strictly limited to facilitating the design process, allowing us to focus on showcasing our innovation in its best possible form.

Thank you for giving us the opportunity to present our work. We look forward to sharing the full potential of our project with you and demonstrating its impact on advancing this technology.
